MURDER SUSPECTS FREE

Edward Berry and John O'Donnell, charged with the murder of Conductor Young, are acquitted by jury.

Working on the theory that men are innocent until they are proven guilty John O'Donnell and Edward Berry, the two men who have been confined in the county jail since last July, are free. They were acquitted by the jury after that body had been out two hours deliberating on the case.

The case was given to the jury Monday night at six o'clock after having been before the court since last Wednesday noon. All details had been carefully gone over and the closing arguments of the attorneys for the defendants and the state were very lengthy. The judge's charge specifically outlined the points to be considered by the jurors and was voluminous. It was read by the court from manuscript.

The verdict of acquittal was hardly expected by those who had attended the trial, although the evidence was not strong enough to warrant a conviction on the original charge. It was thought by many that the jury would turn in a verdict convicting the men with being accessories to the crime. However the judgment of twelve men who have listened to all the evidence and given it due consideration is worth more than the average opinion and the men have been adjudged not guilty.

The case was vigorously prosecuted by the state from the start and the closing argument of Sam S. Miller, district attorney, who conducted the prosecution, covered the entire field. He brought out several points in his address to the jury that impressed those who were in the court room. He reviewed the testimony turned in and his argument was logical and strong. He was assisted by suggestions from Peter Vallyly, a detective for the North-Western road, who was closely identified with the capture of both defendants and who was in close attendance on the case from the time it was called to its close. Attorney A. W. Shelton, who together with A. P. Beckmire, appeared for the defendants, presented a strong defense for his clients. His objections to the testimony turned in on behalf of the state were numerous and apparently tended to harass the prosecution. He very naturally reasoned that the defendant O'Donnell was without guile and brought strong stress to bear on the tall, dark man w. o. according to the defense, fired the shots that ended Conductor Young's life.

The presence in the court room, during the trial, of the widowed wife and fatherless child of the murdered man caused a feeling of pity to enter the hearts of many of the spectators.

Both men were given their liberty by Sheriff Kearns and they were seen on the street Monday evening. It is understood that Berry has been employed by A. Lago who served as one of the jurymen. Mr. Lago has a large farm west of the city. O'Donnell expressed a desire to go to Minneapolis.

MARGARET MILLER DIES

Margaret, the little nine-year-old daughter of Attorney Sam S. Miller, passed into the world beyond last night at eleven o'clock after an illness of eight weeks. Death resulted from heart failure and was due to the disease termed endocarditis by the medical fraternity.

The little soul had been peacefully midway between the abode of flesh and eternity for weeks and although the question of recovery was veiled in doubt everything possible within the province of the physician was done to hold the vital spark.

For weeks the tender care of a father and mother and the counsel and treatment of physicians had sought to stay the relentless hand, the cold touch of which ends all, but help was not for the little girl and like others who have gone before she passed peacefully to her home and although the passing was painless it brought the sorrow and anguish that God ordained must come to all who are of the earth, earthly.

Little Margaret Miller was universally beloved by all with whom she came in contact and while her sojourn here was limited, yet she was of the temperament to create loving friendship and affection. Her early passing when the years of life had but just begun is lamented most keenly by the father and family and by the numerous circle of friends and neighbors who have felt the comfort of the young girl's presence here.

Funeral services will be held from the home residence Saturday morning at 10:30. Rev. A. G. Wilson, pastor of the Congregational church, will officiate.

The Slater Superior at St. Mary's hospital is said to be very ill with typhoid fever.

BRING IN THE MAGAZINES.

Collect your old magazines and have them ready for the library collection to be made soon.

75 volumes of bound magazines have recently been added to the bound magazine file at the library and are a valuable addition. To make these volumes 75 magazines were needed. 50 of these were given at the collection last spring. The remainder were a gift from the Wisconsin Free Library Commission.

An odd number of a magazine you have may be just what is needed to complete a volume at the library.

Beside these 75 volumes, pamphlets were made from old magazines and have been in use in the schools during the year.

Hundreds of these magazines and papers have been sent to people living in the country and neighboring towns and camps and all were glad to have them.

Good use can be made of all magazines given to the library.

DEPOT IS ROBBED AGAIN

Thieves Enter the North-Western Depot Thursday Morning—Second Robbery Within a Few Weeks.

Last Thursday morning the North-Western ticket office was robbed. This is the second time within a few weeks. The amount secured was in the neighborhood of thirty-six dollars. The deed was committed in the early hours of the morning, perhaps soon after the departure of the south bound passenger train.

The operator is stationed in the freight office and has no occasion to visit the depot except when he goes to sell tickets and check up sales. The robbery was thus discovered when he went to sell tickets for the north bound morning "limited." The robber gained access to the depot proper through a side window which had been left unlocked. With the use of a bar it was an easy matter to enter the ticket office and rifle the money drawer. Detectives were put on the case soon after the discovery but the offenders had made well their escape and no trace could be found. As this makes the second time that a robbery of this nature has occurred the police are beginning to believe that some one familiar with the property and surroundings is doing the work. The depot will be closely watched hereafter in hopes that some important discovery will be made.

The railroad company will send to this station within a few days a number of patent burglar proof locks which will be fastened to the doors of the depot and ticket office.

Dies From Ill Injuries.

Chas. Martak died at St. Mary's hospital late Wednesday night as the result of injuries received while at work near Wausboro. Martak was a workman for the Geo. E. Wood Lumber Co. He was engaged that afternoon in loading logs upon the flat cars. A chain binding the timbers suddenly broke letting them down to the ground. Before he could escape their path Martak was hit by one of the logs, breaking his hip bone and injuring him internally. The injured man was brought here that evening over the "Soo."

Dr. Welch was summoned, who upon examination, found that his injuries were such that nothing could be done to relieve him. The dead man had no friends in this country and had little money, having worked but a short time at Wausboro. He was buried Friday by the county.

"The School for Scandal."

The noted actor Mr. William Owen has elected to appear this season as the young scape grace Charles Surface in the brilliant comedy "The School for Scandal" a play that has long been considered the most witty and bright ever written.

After its first presentation in 1772 the fame of "The School for Scandal" spread rapidly through the whole of Europe, and was translated and performed in all the famous theatres of the continent. Even at this late day no season passes without its being presented at the Court theatres throughout Germany and in the days of Wallack, New York and the Museum of Boston a certain part of the season was always given to its revival. No book in the English language has been so widely translated except probably "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

An exceptionally fine cast accompanies Mr. Owen this season headed by the sterling actor J. W. McDonnell. At the opera house May 15.

Mac Douglas left this morning for Eagle River and neighboring towns on an oil inspection tour.

THE RHINELANDER TRACK

The new set of officers of the Oneida County Agricultural Association have not been idle since they were elected to look after the affairs of the association and at the present time the Eighth Annual Fair promises to be even a greater success than have the fairs of former years.

Although it is early in the fair season Dr. T. R. Welch, the secretary of the association, is busy arranging for the coming exhibits and the track events which have always been the leading features of the fair.

It is safe to say that the fair association can now boast of one of the very best half-mile tracks in the state. Every effort has been put forth to make it rank with the best and from present appearances it will meet with popular favor among all visiting horsemen as well as the numerous local owners of racing stock here in Rhineland.

Ever since the fair association was organized the racing feature of the proposition appealed to the directors in a strong light. It was noticed that the women and children took to the "pumpkin shows" and that they also were interested in the whirling men and the cane rack and soap fairs. The wise men of the association, however, took notice of the increased attendance when a racing event was scheduled, and the added receipts in the treasurer's office at the close of the day's program helped them to materially realize that the racing feature of the fair was a money-making proposition.

When the track was first laid out at the grounds it was no better than the average course up in this northern country. To make it trees had to be cut down and stumps uprooted and the clearing process was necessarily slow. The first racing program scheduled for the track demonstrated that the people here took very kindly to that kind of sport and improvements at the track have been in order ever since. Year by year it has been hardened and leveled up. The expressions from visiting horsemen have materially aided the directors in carrying on the work of improvement. Up to this year the clayey of the course has been most earnestly longed for but has been at the same time a remote possibility owing to the shortage in funds. For a long time it was known that in order to have the track "fast" and in keeping with the other race courses around the country that new material had to be put on it and that the turns would of necessity have to be rounded out. All of this has been done under the direction of Dr. T. R. Welch, the newly elected secretary of the Fair Association.

With characteristic push and the determination to make the track as good as any in the state the doctor took up the work of the racing men and going personally responsible for the work entailed had it done with the result that today Rhineland can boast of as fine a half mile track as there is in the state. It is hard and level as a floor. The turns are gauged to offer the least resistance to the onward sweep of the racer and upon the whole the track is one to be proud of. A large sum of money has been required to carry on the work but it has all been furnished. The race events this year will be decidedly interesting owing to the improvements and special efforts are being made to bring in a line of fast horses that will turn the track at clips that will astonish those who have had watches heretofore.

Horse owners throughout this section of the state are welcome to the use of the track and stalls for training purposes without charge. This should act as an incentive to horsemen as the track is in splendid condition and is easy of access from all points.

The railroad facilities are of the best and horses can get in here and out with dispatch, the convenience here of the C. & N. W. R. Y. and the "Soo" giving the horsemen shipping advantages north, south, east and west.

A Pleasant Event.

About thirty-five couples were in attendance at the dancing party at Gilligan's hall last Friday evening. The affair was given by the High school Juniors, they spent much time in decorating the hall and it presented a very pretty appearance. Potted plants, evergreens and flowers made up the display, with cozy corners scattered about. Punch was served by two small girls in white. Fredrickson's full orchestra furnished the music and dancing was indulged in until after midnight. A most enjoyable time was reported by everyone there.

A Coming Event.

An entertainment of musical attraction is to be given in the Congregational church Friday evening, May 22. Rosa D'Erlina, Prima Donna Soprano and Organist assisted by G. R. Vantom, impersonator and tenor soloist are to appear on above date in their song, lecture and recital giving a program which has been repeated recently at Appleton and Janesville and presented in many other places.

The Pilsen society has the concert in charge and are to be congratulated in securing the attraction. It is intended to secure a large advance sale of tickets which have been placed at the nominal sum of twenty-five cents.

Milwaukee—Her entire program was sterling in its character, sparkling in its range and variety and exquisite in its rendition. Mr. Vantom, too, is a charming singer as well as an admirable reciter of humorous stories.—Sentinel.

Rockford, Ill.—Mme. D'Erlina has a voice of great power and sweetness. It is richly sympathetic and holds the hearer spellbound. Mr. Vantom has also a fine voice which is especially strong in humorous effects. He is, however, versatile, and in everything which he undertook last evening he carried the audience with him.—Daily Register.

FOUND HANGING BY NECK

A Bartender in the City Hotel Saloon Commits Suicide By the Rope Route—Cause Unknown.

Victor Hanson, who has been employed in the sample room of the City Hotel for the past three months as bartender, was missed from his accustomed place behind the bar last night and a search developed the fact that he would never more hand over the cup that cheers to the thirty patrons of the place.

Lee Isaacson, an employee of the hotel, came into the saloon shortly before six o'clock last night and after waiting some time for the bartender to show up started out to look for him. He noticed a key in the door of one of the out-buildings and supposing that Hanson had entered opened the door. The sight that met his gaze caused him to beat a hasty retreat and summon help. Hanson was hanging by his neck from a rope attached to the rafters of the building and his face wore the horrible look that comes from strangulation. He was cut down and it was found that the rope was tied to a cork-screw which had been screwed into the scantling.

The man was stone dead and had evidently been hanging in the building for nearly half an hour.

The dead man was taken to the undertaking rooms of F. A. Hildebrand and prepared for burial.

No cause is known for his rash act although he had made a statement earlier in the day that indicated self destruction.

So far as known he has no relatives in this section.

Is Looking For a Location.

Wm. W. McQueen of Milwaukee is in Rhineland this week looking over the field with a view of locating. Mr. McQueen is thoroughly versed in the handling of cedar and as there is a considerable quantity of it marketable in this vicinity it is hoped that he may decide to make this city his headquarters and establish a yard for the receipt and shipment of posts and poles.

The gentleman is known to several of our citizens and has shot in many gun club tournaments in the state. He was engaged one year ago near Texarkana, Texas, superintending a logging job which was being done by a force of negroes and in looking after the work struck back over a log and was stuck in the leg by a rattlesnake. He narrowly escaped going over the divide and has just about recovered from the effects of the deadly poison that was injected into his system by the reptile.

Called in Marriage.

Lewis Kelley of this city and Miss Milla Wenzel were married Tuesday morning at the home of the bride in the town of Schoepfle by Rev. A. G. Wilson of the Congregational church here. George Kelley, a brother of the groom, acted as best man and a sister of the bride fulfilled the duties of bridesmaid.

The wedding was a quiet one and was attended by about twenty friends of the contracting parties, among them being Mr. and Mrs. S. Kelley and son George and daughter Edith of this city, father and mother and brother and sister of the groom. An elaborate wedding breakfast was served after which the couple took the train for Milwaukee on their wedding tour.

If immigration continues to the end of this fiscal year at the rate maintained for the first nine months, all records will be exceeded and the total reach $20,000.

American apples to the extent of 2,500,000 barrels have been shipped to Europe during the last six months. This is one of the items that help explain the enormous growth of American exports in recent years.

It is well to be informed definitely that Harvard university wants that additional $2,000,000 for the purpose of expanding its educational department. Otherwise it might have been thought that it needed the money for baseball and football uses.

A racketeer-the slot X-ray machine has been invented. The observer places a coin in the slot, moves a lever, puts his hand on whatever he wishes to examine, into a box without any sides and looks down at it through the fluorescent screen which forms the top of the box.

Hamburg, Pa., recently communicated with Mr. Carnegie regarding the purchase of a pipe organ for a new church. The letter concluded: "The gift of a pipe organ is a thousand dollars to help build a list of 'whistles'." Mr. Carnegie replied that he "would."

Twenty British workmen have finished an inspection of the conditions of labor in this country, and now Germany has sent 46 farmers to study American agriculture. If this sort of thing is going on, we should establish technical schools for the instruction of the rest of the world.

It is stated by an eastern paper that the Reading railroad "will have a larger surplus for the fiscal year ending June 30 next than for the preceding year, and easily make up the losses by the coal strike." Consumers are unable to give so favorable a report. Their losses are permanent, with the anxieties thrown in.

James R. Marenum, who was shot from behind and killed in the corridor of the courthouse at Lexington, Ky., recently was one of the best known lawyers in eastern Kentucky. He is said to be the thirty-first victim of a feud growing out of an election contest in one of the mountain counties of Kentucky. Sixteen of the killings occurred during the last year.

John D. Rockefeller is now classed as a millionaire, and reported to be the richest man in the world. Before the South African war Alfred Beit, of Kimberley, was, according to an English list published in 1900, the world's only billionaire. Li Hung Chang, of China, stood second in the list with $200,000,000, and John D. Rockefeller third with $200,000,000.

Evidence gathered in the Alaskan boundary dispute shows that in former years England settled several disputes with Russia by conceding the latter's right to a 30-mile strip along the coast. The long-established agreement on this point was never again questioned until gold was found in the Klondike, and Canada realized the increased importance of a war in that region.

It is not pleasant, and yet not surprising, to learn that the original copy of the declaration of independence in the custody of the state department at Washington, has faded until only one or two of the signatures can be made out. Even the bold one of John Hancock is illegible. The treatise is fading. The sacred relic has long been one of the objects of interest at the capital, and although it possesses only sentimental value, its loss will be much deplored.

The bureau of statistics at Washington has issued a "Statistical Abstract of the World," which presents a comparative statement of the commerce of every country in the world during the period from 1870 to 1902, inclusive. It shows that the imports of the United States increased from $456,000,000 to $2,000,000,000 and the exports from $376,000,000 to $1,225,000,000. This excess of exports over imports for the United States in 1902 exceeded that of all other countries in the world combined.

The Methodist church has lost within a few days two of its most distinguished men. Bishop H. S. Foster, who died at Newton, Mass., was long regarded as the foremost theologian in the house of bishops. His discussions of theological subjects were marked by unusual depth and penetration of thought. Bishop John P. Horst, who died in Washington, was of another type. He represented the organizing and administrative capacity of the church, and was the chief mover in the project for the Methodist university at Washington.

It is estimated by prominent shell dealers that nearly 25,000 tons of clam shells for button purposes have been taken from the bottom of the Mississippi river during the past year, for which an average of $1.00 per ton was paid on the river bank, which would make a total of about $25,000. Of this amount over 20,000 tons were gathered between Dubuque, Ia., and Red Wing, Minn. Besides the shells, pearls are often found, and over $200,000 was paid to the fishermen on the Mississippi waters for these gems during the past year.

Paul R. Du Chailin, whose death at St. Petersburg, Russia, is announced, was a pioneer in African exploration, and science as well as the general public owes him much for the information he obtained. He was practically the discoverer of the gorilla and of the dwarf races of the dark continent, and he met the customary experience of the man who finds anything novel and remarkable. He faced a storm of contradiction and ridicule. But he lived to see his critics confounded and his discoveries verified. Mr. Du Chailin was a fascinating writer.

Alleged Assassin of Attorney Marcum Is Captured.

IS CURTIS JETT, YOUNG DESPERADO.

Memorandum Discloses His Whereabouts and Officers Arrest Him Without Resistance—Said to Have Shot Witness of Murder.

Lexington, Ky., May 11.—The capture of Curtis Jett, charged with the assassination of J. R. Marcum in Jackson, Monday, was accomplished without bloodshed at 2 o'clock Sunday morning. He is now in the Clark county jail at Winchester. Hearing a warrant which had been sworn out by Sam Jett, uncle of the accused, Sheriff McChord and a posse of seven left Winchester at midnight Saturday, reaching Jackson's ferry, ten miles distant, at 2:30 a. m., they put away their baggage and crossed the Kentucky river to Madison county in canoes. They proceeded on foot to the home of Mrs. A. Haggins, Jett's mother, two miles from the ferry. Six of the posse were stationed around the dwelling and Sheriff McChord and Deputy Stokely approached the front door and knocked. Jett's mother answered and after some parley admitted that Curtis was within. They were admitted and found Jett awake but still in bed. He shook hands with the sheriff and said that he would give no trouble.

Four thousand people crowded Tomlinson hall Sunday afternoon when the exercises opened. Music was furnished by the band of the Knights of Father Mathew. A. M. Sweeney presided, and formally welcomed the event. The jubilee song was sung by a chorus of 600 voices. Simon L. Sheer, in delivered the principal address of the afternoon, reviewing the life and work of Bishop Chatard. M. W. Carr and Senator Albert J. Beveridge also spoke. Bishop Chatard expressed his thanks and appreciation. The formal jubilee exercises will take place Tuesday.

In the full Sunday Jett was communicative on all matters save the killing of Marcum. "I'll get out of this all right," was the only statement he would make that could be construed as a reference to the charge. He said he wanted to be tried in Breathitt county. He was bitter in denouncing his stepfather, who had him arrested, and said that the score would be evened up when he was at liberty. When asked in reference to the statement that five men would testify that he killed Marcum he simply sneered and replied: "What's that to you?" To Sheriff McChord he was equally noncommittal as to the Marcum tragedy. Jett is 28 years of age, athletic in build, with deep set, keen eyes, and has bushy red hair. That he submitted to arrest was an agreeable surprise to the officers, who feared an encounter. Jett denied that he drove his stepfather from home. He will be arraigned Tuesday, and it is supposed will be transferred to the Jackson district for trial.

said to Have Shot Witness.

Lexington, Ky., May 11.—Tom Cockrell has sworn out a warrant for the arrest of Curtis Jett, charging him with the assassination of J. R. Marcum at Jackson on Monday. Jett is said Saturday morning, shot and fatally wounded R. J. Ewen at his home in South Jackson. Jett had sworn to kill anyone telling of the assassination of Marcum. After the shooting of Ewen, Jett immediately left Jackson, going to Winchester. Cockrell is getting on information furnished by Judge J. C. Back, who is on his way to California. Judge Back is a prominent attorney, and his wife was a cousin to the wife of Marcum. He says that Jett went into the side door of the courthouse, and that Ewen saw him shoot Marcum. He was then seen by a number of witnesses to come out of the courthouse.

Tom White was with Jett, but went in the courthouse from the opposite side. Jett is a nephew of Judge Haggins, and an own cousin to the Cockrells, by whom he will be charged with the assassination of Jim last summer. He is a desperate character, and has been pardoned for several offenses.

GLANDERS IN THE CITY

Two Horses Belonging to J. Butolph Are Quarantined as the Result of the Dread Disease.

State Veterinary Surgeon Roberts of Janesville has been summoned here by E. M. Raymond, a local veterinarian who last week discovered glanders in the city. The horses afflicted belong to J. Butolph, a local teamster and both are in bad shape. The owner did not know what was the matter with the animals and the horses had been treated with all manner of local applications before the condition of things was discovered. Veterinarian Raymond, who recently located here, was called to treat the animals, but not until the disease had taken such virulent form that there was no relief. He immediately had quarantine measures established about the premises occupied by the horses and notified the state surgeon as above noted.

The disease is very contagious and is invariably fatal. Rigid measures for its handling have been established by the state and all animals afflicted are ordered to be shot that the malady may not spread.

Surgeon Roberts is expected here tomorrow when the horses will be dispatched. The owner claims that the animals contracted the disease in the logging camps of Gudegast Bros., where it is reported that three of the animals died last winter.

STUFFED BLACK BEARS.

The Reason They Are Used as Signs by the Furriers.

The man who comes to New York only once in ten years said he could not understand why the bears in Central park seemed so much more stuck up than the rest of the animals, but after he had traveled about town for several days he saw through it. It was because 99 per cent of the furs in town have chosen a big black bear for an advertising sign. Why the other animals in the zoo should be so discriminated against puzzled the man not a little. One day he asked a furrier about it.

"It is because the bears last longer than anything else," said the furrier. "Of all the animals in New York I don't know of any that have a harder time than those that stand outside furriers' stores winter and summer and try to drum up trade for their employers. It doesn't make any difference what kind of weather comes along, whether it blows hot or cold, those fellows have to stand at their post and sweeter or freer, as the case may be. Naturally all those changes are pretty hard on their hide, and none but bears can stand the strain. Some furriers have tried the fox, the lynx and other animals now and then at a venture, but they have mostly come back to the bear as the most satisfactory of the lot. They cost more too. A good stuffed bear comes as high as $75, but if he is treated well he will last for twenty-five years, so that brings him down to a comparatively low price after all."—New York Press.

Charles A. Dana's Logic.

They tell a good story of Charles A. Dana—how Dana once summoned a boy reporter and said, "Tomorrow you write up the yacht race."

"But," said the lad, "I don't know how; I'm a Nebraskan. I only came here last night, sir, and I haven't so much as seen New York harbor yet. As for yachts—why, I never saw a yacht in my life."

"Just the reason I sent for you, my boy! You'll write a story that people can read; you'll picture the things; you'll write with enthusiasm because it's all new to you."

Fine logic! The poetry of the sea has always been written by landmen; it always will be. The barrack room ballads are best sung by a gentle civilian. The inside of anything is clearest seen by an erstwhile outsider. Mr. Bryce, not Mr. Lodge, writes "The American Commonwealth." Emerson, not Carlyle, writes "English Traits."—Rollin Lynde Hart in Atlantic.

Why He Should Learn Spanish.

One of the most brilliant series of the Gobiell tapestries represents the surprising adventures of Don Quixote. Louis XV. had a great affection for the doughty chivalier. One day he said to a great gentleman of his court: "Do you know Spanish?"

"No, sire," said the other.

"Ah, it is a great pity."

The gentleman, thinking, at the least, the king was going to offer him the ambassadorship at Madrid, put himself with extraordinary zeal to the mastery of Spanish. In a few weeks he came back to his royal master and, with a conqueror's air, said:

"Your majesty, I have learned Spanish."

"My compliments," said Louis. "Read 'Don Quixote' in Spanish. It is much finer than in French."

Not the Usual Result.

"How can you afford to give away these salt pickles with your meals?" asked the man who dined cheaply at the little German restaurant around the corner.

"Ah, but you forget they make the awful thirst," said the proprietor. "The awful thirst makes trade for the bar. Is it not the clever idea?"

"They certainly do make one thirsty," said the man at the table. "I feel those I've eaten already. Bring me!"

The proprietor's face was a study in expectancy.

"Bring me another glass of water!"—New York Tribune.

Stated a Fact.

A clergyman highly esteemed for his many excellent qualities, of which oratory is not one, has recently had placed in his church by his loving congregation a new pulpit. It is a fine piece of work, ornate with carving and artistic embellishment. But the text inscribed on it, considering the effect of the good rector's sermons, might have been more happily chosen. "He giveth his beloved sleep," it runs.

Pressed His Case.

Mother—The whippersnapper had yesterday not seem to have improved you. Your behavior has been even worse today.

Willie—That's what I wanted to prove. You said I was as bad as I possibly could be yesterday. I knew you were wrong.

No Enemies.

"No, sir," said the cowboy. "Cactus Cal isn't got an enemy in the world."

"Sure, but as soon as he makes one he gets his gun later play and unmakes him."—Exchange.

His Hard Remark.

An Unreasonable Caption.

Critics—How so?

Willie—It is "The Decline of the Amateur." As if any one ever knew an amateur to decline.—Baltimore American.

The Real Thing.

Jewett—What did you do then?

"I don't know; I immediately fell asleep."—Smart Set.

A RESOURCEFUL LAWYER.

An Inspiration That Was a Case He Considered Hopeless.

A Philadelphia lawyer tells the story that a picture of Fanny Davenport once won a case for him. His client was suing the Pennsylvania Railroad company, of which Wayne MacVeagh was counsel, for $7,500 damages for the death of her husband. "Just a few days before the case was to have come up she happened into my office and announced that she had married again. 'Good Lord, madam! I grieve, why couldn't you have waited until your case came up? It's next to impossible for me to get damages for you now.' She said she didn't care very much, and went out, seeming very happy. Well, it just happened that I had a photograph of Fanny Davenport on my desk, and when the next day Wayne MacVeagh happened into my office to discuss quite another matter he picked up the photo and admired it. 'Who's your friend?' he asked. I had a sudden inspiration, and I said: 'Why, that's the lady who is suing your company for $7,500.' 'The device you say,' said he. 'Handsome woman, isn't she?' 'She is, indeed,' I replied. 'Hm!' he exclaimed, looking at the picture closely. 'A deuced handsome woman, I should say. A deuced handsome woman.' There was a slight pause. 'What'll you take to settle this case?' he asked. I thought of my client's second marriage, and I fixed the figure at $5,000. The deal was consummated and the case never came to court."

Paid in His Own Coin.

Once in a way Archbishop Temple of Canterbury would get paid back in his own coin. A delightful instance of this is recorded. The church people of a certain parish are said to have strongly urged the bishop to find another sphere for their patron, whom they wished to get rid of. Dr. Temple summoned the obnoxious clergyman to his study and suggested a change of benefice. What was the person wanted to know, that his people had to find fault with? "Well," said the bishop in the peculiarly harsh, stentorian voice that so sadly marred his preaching, "if you insist on it, it's your voice they complain of; they don't like your voice." "How curious!" said the clergyman. "A friend was with me at the cathedral the other day, when your lordship was preaching, and as he went out he said, 'What a fine sermon, but what an unfortunate voice!'"

An Accommodating Witness.

The witness on the stand had been bullied by the lawyer until his patience was exhausted.

"Now," said the attorney, "you say you saw the prisoner draw his pistol?"

"Yes."

"Remember you are on your oath."

"I'm not forgetting it."

"You are sure you are telling the truth?"

"Sure."

"No mistake about it?"

"None."

"You couldn't be persuaded into any other statement?"

Here the judge interposed.

"Oh, let him go on, your honor," pleaded the witness. "He's a lawyer, and he doesn't know the truth when he sees it, and I'm only too glad to show him how far off he is."

The Monument Was a Mistake.

A stately granite shaft had been erected in the cemetery of a Massachusetts town in memory of a man whose life had been anything but praiseworthy. None the less the monument was one of the sights to be shown to a stranger, and one day a former resident of the town who had been away for many years returned and was taken to see the granite obelisk. He was no stranger to the faults and failings of the man whom it eulogized with its gilded inscription, and, after silent contemplation of the shaft on all sides, he said, "Well, if it's for goodness, it's too big, and if it's for badness it's not big enough."—New Haven Chronicle.

Trained Chrysanthemums.

Chrysanthemums in Japan are trained into numerous quaint shapes, like the old English yew trees, in the forms of peacocks, etc. In Tokyo there are gardens filled with life sized figures made entirely of the flowers and leaves, the faces being masks, and these chrysanthemum figures accurately represent court ladies, warriors, children and animals, one of the favorite characters being a young lady with a fox's tail peeping from under her dress and a mask which by the touch of a string turns into Reynard's head.

Down With Impertinent Neighbors.

Mr. Mullooly—What for are you making such a noise on that piano? I've driven me distracted with your racket and me head aches like it will split in two pieces.

Daughter—Then new neighbors next door has been complaining of my playing.

Mr. Mullooly—Begorra, hammer harder.—New York Weekly.

Not Argued With Him.

"Do you know Mr. Fresco, Mr. Albert Fresco?" inquired Mrs. Norlich.

"No," said her husband. "Why?"

"I've got an invite to Mrs. Plimmer's garden party, and she says they're going to dine at Fresco's."—Philadelphia Press.

Grief Is the agony of an Instant.

We talk of a diamond being so many carats in weight. The carat was originally the seed of the Abyssinian carat cove. These seeds are very equal in size and so were at one time used in weighing gold and precious stones.

Today the carat as applied to gold means simply the twenty-fourth part of the weight of any piece of gold or alloy of gold.

You may refuse to believe a compliment, but it was a good deal like a snail. It left a spot on you.—Atchafson Globe.

A Blind That Worked.

Peter Newell, the artist, was camping out in Colorado at one time, living in a tent. News came of a nocturnal murder in the neighborhood, and considerable uneasiness was manifested by some members of the family. Mr. Newell thereupon cut out some silhouettes representing men of the roughest western type, all with pistols in their belts and in the attitude of men intensely interested in a game of poker. The silhouettes Mr. Newell fastened to the inner canvas of the tent. At night the family, stepping outside into the darkness to view the result, were entranced with its success. The shadows thrown from the silhouettes in the lighted interior indicated a tent filled with poker playing, pistol shooting desperadoes. Thenceforth the Newell family slept in pastoral peace.

What Is In a Name?

Once upon a time there was a creditor to a large amount whose debtor constantly refused payment. The creditor became impatient and after investigation found that the debtor lived in a better house than he did, dressed better, dined at his wife in silk, satins and lace and spent dollars where he, the creditor, spent cents. Then he was wroth.

"I will sue the wealthy debtor," he said, "and collect what is owing me."

He brought suit and disclosed a large amount of valuable property; but, alas, it was all in the name of the debtor's wife, and he got not a single cent.

Finished The Text.

Appropos of mottoes on houses, a correspondent of the Westminster Gazette relates that a man in Scotland wished to have cut over the door of a new house the text, "My house shall be called a house of prayer." He left the workmen to carry out his wishes during his absence, and on his return his horror was great to find the quotation completed. "But ye have made it a den of thieves." "We had a wee thing mair room, ye see, so we just put in the end of the verse," was the explanation given by the Bible loving Scot.

Pipes and Hymns.

Rev. Dr. Parr, when perpetual curate of Hatton, Warwickshire, which village he held from 1783 to 1790, regularly smoked in the vestry while the congregation was singing long hymns, chosen for the purpose, immediately before the sermon. The doctor was wont to exclaim, "My people like long hymns, but I prefer a long pipe."—London Telegraph.

Import—But he looks distracted.

Harold—Yes, he can't invent a plausible excuse to give his wife for being late, and he doesn't go home.

A Happy Hour.

He—Do you remember the night I proposed to you?

She—Yes, dear.

"We sat for one hour, and you never opened your mouth."

"Yes, I remember, dear."

"Believe me, that was the happiest hour of my life!"

He Was Lucky.

"Young man," said the pompous individual, "I did not always have this carriage. When I first started in life, I had to walk."

"You were lucky," chuckled the youth. "When I first started in life, I couldn't walk."—Chicago News.

Constitution is nothing more than a clogging of the bowels and nothing less than vital stagnation or death if not relieved.

If every constipated sufferer could realize that he is allowing poisonous filth to remain in his system, he would soon get relief. Constipation invites all kind of contagion. Headaches, biliousness, colds and many other ailments disappear when constipated bowels are relieved. Theodor's Black-Draught thoroughly cleans out the bowels in an easy and natural manner without the purging of calomel or other violent cathartics.

Be sure that you get the original Theodor's Black-Draught, made by The Chathamoga Medicine Co. Sold by all druggists in 25 cent and $1.00 packages.

Warning: Art. 10, N.Y. Stat. 1901. I cannot recommend Theodor's Black-Draught highly. I keep it in my house all the time and have used it for the last ten years. I never gave my children any other laxative. I think I could never be able to work without it on account of being troubled with constipation. Your medicine is all that large and strong.
